

Privacy & Data Protection Notice

Ian Dickinson | Actor & Voice Artist

Last updated: October 2026

I take your privacy seriously. This notice explains what personal information I may collect, why I use it, how I protect it and the rights you have in relation to your personal data.

It applies to visitors to www.ian-dickinson.com, people who contact me through the website, and clients, agents, casting professionals, production companies and others who contact or work with me professionally.

Who is responsible for your data?

Ian Dickinson is the data controller for personal information covered by this notice.

If you have a question about your personal information or wish to exercise any of your data protection rights, you can contact me using the contact form at www.ian-dickinson.com.

Information I may collect

If you use the contact form on my website, I receive the information you choose to provide:

- First name
- Surname
- Email address
- Your message

If we subsequently correspond or work together, I may also hold information reasonably required for our professional relationship, such as contact details, correspondence, contracts, project information, invoices and payment records.

My website may also collect limited technical and usage information, such as information about visits, pages viewed, traffic sources, approximate location, browser or device information and interaction with the site. This is used to understand how the website is being used and to maintain and improve it.

I do not use the website to intentionally collect sensitive personal information.

How I use your information

I may use personal information to:

- Respond to enquiries
- Communicate with clients, agents, casting professionals, production companies and other professional contacts
- Provide acting, voice-over and related professional services
- Manage projects, contracts, invoices and payments
- Maintain appropriate business and financial records
- Administer, secure and improve the website
- Understand how visitors use the website
- Comply with legal, regulatory and tax obligations

I process enquiries and professional correspondence where necessary to respond to you and pursue my legitimate professional interests as an actor and voice artist.

Where we enter into a professional agreement, I may process information as necessary to take steps towards or perform a contract.

I also process information where necessary to meet legal, accounting or tax obligations.

Where consent is required, including for certain website technologies, I rely on your consent.

Website, analytics and cookies

This website is built and hosted using Wix. Wix provides website hosting, contact-form functionality and website analytics.

Wix Analytics provides information about how the website is used, including information such as visitor numbers, traffic sources, pages visited, approximate geographic location and visitor engagement.

The website also has a Google Tag connected. Under the site's current consent settings, data associated with this tag is sent to Google only where the visitor has given the required consent.

The website uses cookies and similar technologies, including tags, where necessary to operate the site and, where you consent, for analytics and related purposes.

Where required, you can choose your cookie preferences through the cookie banner. Optional tracking technologies are used subject to the consent choices available to you.

Sharing your information

I do not sell your personal information.

Personal information may be processed by trusted service providers where necessary for me to operate my website or conduct my professional activities. This may include website and technology providers such as Wix and Google, and professional service providers where appropriate.

Information may also be disclosed where I am legally required to do so, or where necessary to establish, exercise or defend legal rights.

Some service providers may process personal information outside the UK. Where personal information is transferred internationally, appropriate safeguards or another lawful transfer mechanism will be used as required by applicable data protection law.

How long I keep information

I keep personal information only for as long as it is reasonably required for the purpose for which it was collected.

General enquiries that do not lead to an ongoing professional relationship will not be retained unnecessarily.

Where we work together, certain business, contractual, invoice and payment records may need to be retained for longer periods to meet legal, accounting or tax requirements.

Security

I take reasonable steps to protect personal information against loss, misuse, unauthorised access, alteration or disclosure.

Where third-party services are used to process or store information, I use established providers and rely on the security measures they provide as part of their services.

Your data protection rights

Depending on the circumstances and applicable law, you may have the right to:

- Ask what personal information I hold about you
- Request a copy of your personal information
- Ask me to correct inaccurate or incomplete information
- Request deletion of your personal information

- Request restriction of certain processing
- Request transfer of information in certain circumstances
- Withdraw consent where processing is based on consent

You also have the right to object to processing based on legitimate interests in certain circumstances.

If you wish to exercise any of these rights, please contact me through the contact form at www.ian-dickinson.com.

I may need to ask for information to confirm your identity before responding to a request.

Complaints

If you have concerns about how your personal information has been handled, please contact me first so that I have an opportunity to address them.

You also have the right to complain to the relevant data protection authority.

In the UK, this is the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO):

www.ico.org.uk

Changes to this notice

I may update this Privacy & Data Protection Notice from time to time to reflect changes to my website, professional activities or legal requirements.

The date at the top of this notice shows when it was last updated.